

Muskie is hoping you getting better soon. We are doing very well. We are missing your sweet personality around campus. Muskie are praying for you.

Keeping you in my thoughts!
Well soon!
Get well soon lady! keeping

Love, family and friends lend a helping hand

Chelsea McCrae's friends and family have helped her get through a lot of hard times in her life. Some of those times include friend troubles but there were also more serious times when she needed support.

When she was going through a medical emergency she leaned on her family for help and support. During this time it was difficult for her emotionally and physically. Her family helped her see through her emotional and physical feelings.

While she was gone from the Muskingum University campus for two weeks her friends missed seeing her around campus. They made her nice get well soon cards and posters for her to see when she would return to the campus. She came back and saw all the cards from her friends and that made her feel good that her friends cared about her that much to make her those things and sign the card/poster with such kind messages.

After going through this again it has made her a stronger person, thanks to her family and friends for always being there for her when she needs them.
